

Instructional Technology Planning Group (ITPG)

formerly "Computer Advisory Committee":

The Instructional Technology Planning Group is comprised of membership from all areas of the college that use Instructional Technologies. The committee is charged with working together to coordinate instructional technology needs, identify and solve problems, discuss new and emerging classroom tools, and ensure efficient use of the investment in Instructional Technology resources at Cayuga. The group also reviews Student Technology Fee Project Proposals in the spring of each year and makes recommendations for approval to the VP of Administration as per the defined criteria and process.

Leadership:

- Chaired by the Dean of Information Technology

Membership:

- Faculty, Staff, and Administration who use or are involved with instructional technologies.

The committee:

- Meets once in fall and twice in the spring
- Discusses existing and new instructional technologies
- Reviews and recommends Student Technology Fee Project Proposals as per the established process every spring semester
